Lent: Love as Sacrifice

The irony is not lost on me that in this year of our Lord 2024, Ash Wednesday falls on February 14 which is Valentine's Day. Two days that at first glance are seemingly at odds with each other; a day when chocolate is given as an expression of one's feelings is the same chocolate that another struggles to give up in a way of growing in holiness.

Champagne glasses that would clink together over a white tablecloth dinner is the same alcohol that another gives up as a means of sacrifice and temperance to honor these days of prayer, fasting, and almsgiving. In any other year when these yearly commemorations fall on different days of the calendar, one can fully enter the ritual, experience, and tradition of each day without violating the other's.

This Ash Wednesday and Lent, how do we reconcile these two dates that are seemingly at odds with one another? Very simply, the commonality on this day is love. However, the love that is expressed is not a love that is decadent, lavish, and excessive, but rather a true love that is a deep abiding love requires sacrifice.

What does it mean that love requires sacrifice? As we examine the various types of love in classical Greek philosophy and reignited in our Catholic ethos by C.S. Lewis' 1960 book, The Four Loves, we see the gradations of love. What we are called to celebrate this Lent is firstly the love of God which is the truest form of love. Other forms of love are one that, at some level, have a selfish quality about them. The passions of eros serve our own ego and passions. The mania of desire fixates our desires on what we want versus what God wants for us.

However, the deepest type of love, agape, is a love that is not self-serving, but fully giving and sacrificial. This sacrificial love is based in God and "wills the good of the other."^[1]

To reconcile Valentine's Day and Ash Wednesday is a day to realize that true love requires sacrifice. Looking firstly at the person of Jesus Christ we see how his love is sacrificial the way He gives up His own life in love for all of humanity on the Cross. Sacrificial love on Valentine's Day is expressed when we put our own desires out of the way and seek the good of the one who we love.

When the ashes are marked on our forehead with the words, "Repent and believe in the Gospel."^[2] this invitation is to a relationship that is deeper than our own wants and desires. Not only does it draw us into the mystery of the sacrificial love of God, but as we hear it this Valentine's Day it is an invitation to live that sacrificial love daily with the people we love and who love us.

Anyone who has truly been in love knows that it's not easy, but perhaps this February 14th is a chance to explore the depths of love in a new way with the One who is true love and with the one you love.

Just so that love doesn't only last a day, Ash Wednesday and Valentine's Day are gateway days to remind us of something much deeper.

Happy Ash Wednesday and Happy Valentine's Day; both are days of love.

Sincerely in Christ,

Fr. Trail

THIS WEEK AT HOME

Monday, February 12 Always by Our Side

Lent gives us the opportunity to deepen our relationship with God. James teaches us what unwavering faith can accomplish, while the Pharisees demonstrate how people of little or no faith live. James shows us how faith can overcome challenges that many of us know wholeheartedly and firsthand. We may know people who have no relationship with God. These people need assurance, “a sign” to believe. Let us be that sign. Today’s readings: James 1:1–11; Psalm 119:67, 71, 72, 75, 76; Mark 8:11–13.

Tuesday, February 13 A Spiritual Journey

Have you ever been on a family trip when one member’s sudden exclamation of “I forgot to pack!” is followed by another’s reassuring response, “Don’t stress, we’ll figure something out”? Something similar can happen along our faith journey. In this scenario, God is that voice telling us not to worry, that he will help us prevail. God will give us the fortitude for a spiritual Lenten journey. Today’s readings: James 1:12–18; Psalm 94:12–13a, 14–15, 18–19; Mark 8:14–21.

Wednesday, February 14 Symbol of Life

Today the ashes on our foreheads announce to the world that we acknowledge our sin and have faith in the saving cross of Christ. Despite the visibility of the ashes, they are meant to be a sign of conversion rather than an emblem of pride. Matthew encourages us to go about our lives without flaunting our good deeds. It is enough that we know what we have done for the love of neighbor. Today’s readings: Joel 2:12–18; Psalm 51:3–4, 5–6ab, 12–13, 14 and 17; 2 Corinthians 5:20–6:2; Matthew 6:1–6, 16–18.

Thursday, February 15 Perfect Role Model

Who are your role models? As children, we may name a professional athlete or our parents. As we age and our faith grows along with us, we may begin to be inspired by saints. Today’s Gospel reminds us of our greatest role model, Jesus Christ. Jesus gives us the template for a holy life. He also warns us that his path is not easy and that we must help one another along the journey. Our goal is to continue Jesus’ mission. Today’s readings: Deuteronomy 30:15–20; Psalm 1:1–2; 3, 4, 6; Luke 9:22–25.

Friday, February 16 Caring for Others

Look within and discern whether your external actions reflect your internal thoughts. Do you see a relationship between the way you observe the rules of fasting and abstinence and the way you treat others? Is God pleased that a Church law has been observed when you have been unkind to someone you find annoying? When experiencing a problem with another, ask God to fill you with love toward your neighbor. Strive to live a holy life not for recognition by others but for your love for God. Today’s readings: Isaiah 58:1–9a; Psalm 51:3–4, 5–6a, 18–19; Matthew 9:14–15.

Saturday, February 17 Saying Yes

Many of us have heard the saying “God doesn’t call the qualified, he qualifies the called.” In today’s Gospel, Jesus called Levi, and Levi followed without hesitation. The other apostles followed the same pattern. Each of them left everything behind to join Jesus’ ministry. How can you act as a missionary disciple, inspiring others to do what is needed to follow Jesus? Today’s readings: Isaiah 58:9b–14; Psalm 86:1–2, 3–4, 5–6; Luke 5:27–32.

Black History Month

Black History Month is a celebration which commemorates Black Americans' achievements, honors their contributions to the United States and the world, and recognizes their crucial role in U.S. history. In 1926, this celebration was created by Harvard-trained historian Carter G. Woodson. During the nation's bicentennial in 1976, President Gerald R. Ford extended the celebration to a month. MONTHLY THEME

ART AND ARCHITECTURE OF ST. THOMAS THE APOSTLE

As we prepare for the 100th anniversary of the dedication of our church this October, we pause this month reflect on the beauty of our space and the way it invites us to worship God.

The baldacchino, or canopy, over the high altar reminds the faithful of the sacred, the Eucharist, which is stored in the tabernacle below. Drawing inspiration from Revelation 21: 9 – 22: 5, the top carvings depict the Heavenly City, the New Jerusalem. At the top of the baldacchino, the Risen Christ stands with arms outstretched, offering blessing and reminding us of his crucifixion.*

This week, take time to explore the baldacchino and discover the rich treasury of images it contains. What do you notice? What image, design, or style attracts you?

*To learn more about the baldacchino, contact the Parish Office to purchase The Art and Architecture of St. Thomas the Apostle Church: A Guided Tour, written by Dr. Sarah Bond, art historian and parishioner.

✠ Ashes

“YOU’VE GOT dirt on your forehead.”

We’re likely to hear those words from thoughtful friends who display their intimate concern as well as their religious absentmindedness when we go out in public after Mass on Ash Wednesday.

The Distribution of Ashes after the homily replaces the Penitential Act at the beginning of Mass. Instead of merely “calling to mind our sins,” we receive a very public reminder of our sinfulness.

We hear: “Repent and believe in the Gospel,” or, “Remember that you are dust and to dust you shall return.”

But it wasn’t always that way. In the early Church, only public sinners wore ashes. These sinners convened regularly to prepare for their reconciliation at a parish service and they formed—well, what we now call “support groups.” As penitents, they used to wear ashes on their heads or in their clothes. Symbols of human mortality, ashes represented their complete dependence on the mercy of God. In the Middle Ages, the support groups dwindled, but sinners remained strong in numbers. So Pope Urban II ordered up the first Ash Wednesday in 1091. Ashes were for everybody, and we’ve been rubbing dirt on our foreheads ever since.

Dirt is something we’re constantly washing off children and ourselves. Only in church do we deliberately put dirt on the most public part of our bodies, our foreheads.

Ashes are what’s left in the now-cold fireplace. Ashes heat the barbecue. Ashes are all that remains of the home after the tragic fire. Ashes enrich the compost heap. Ashes of the faithful departed fill commemorative urns. Ashes represent destruction, refuse, and waste, but they hint at new life.

Long before recycling became popular, the church got into the act on Ash Wednesday. Ever wonder what happens to those Palm Branches left over from last Holy Week? They’ve been burned into ash, stuffed into bags and now await the chance to dirty your forehead on Ash Wednesday this year. The symbol of Christ’s glory has become the symbol of our sin.

On Ash Wednesday, you’re not just another dirty face. No, you’ve tossed yourself into the recycling bin of Lent, ready for renewal this Easter.

DISTRIBUTION OF ASHES AT STA

Procedural changes to the distribution of ashes on Ash Wednesday at STA reflect a deeper understanding of the significance of this solemn day in the liturgical calendar. Here are some key points and the rationale behind them:

1. SHIFT FROM CONVENIENCE TO MEANINGFUL ENGAGEMENT:

- In the past, parishioners were able to stop by the parish office to “get” ashes at their convenience. This year, this option is not available.
- The decision is based on a deeper understanding of the Church’s guidelines and the spiritual significance of Ash Wednesday.

2. REFERENCE TO THE BOOK OF BLESSINGS:

- The change is rooted in chapter 52 of the Book of Blessings, which specifically cites the guidelines for the blessing and distribution of ashes.
- The guidelines state that the blessing and distribution of ashes typically occurs during Mass. When that is not possible, a shorter celebration of the Word of God is to be celebrated.

3. EMPHASIS ON PROCLAMATION OF THE WORD:

- This change underscores the importance of hearing and reflecting on the proclamation of the Word at the beginning of Lent. It is Christ proclaimed, the Word made flesh, that calls us to conversion.
- It highlights that the reception of ashes is not merely a perfunctory ritual but tied to the proclamation of the Word; it is a physical sign of Jesus’ call to repentance and renewal.

4. PURPOSEFUL LENTEN JOURNEY:

- It encourages parishioners to pause, reflect, and respond to the call for repentance and conversion, as articulated by the Prophet Joel: “return to me with your whole heart” (Joel 2:12).

5. ADDRESSING SOCIETAL TRENDS:

- This change critiques the prevailing “on-demand” culture by urging us, the baptized, to embrace an intentional approach to the Lenten journey as we prepare for the renewal of baptism at the Easter Vigil.
- It invites individuals to embrace the spiritual disciplines and rhythms of the liturgical season rather than seeking convenience or shortcuts.

"Brothers and sisters, whether you eat or drink, or whatever you do, do everything for the glory of God."

Do a quick check of your priorities. Where does God rank in that list? If He's not first, you have some work to do. Putting God first in everything helps us from putting other "gods" (like our pride, ego, money and possessions) before God. Before making a decision, ask yourself, "I'm I going this for the glory of God or for the glory of me?"

Strong Foundation... Future Success!

That's great to hear that Catholic Schools' Week was a success at St. Thomas the Apostle! Catholic Schools Week is an annual event celebrated by Catholic schools across the country.

It is a time to showcase the unique and valuable contributions that Catholic schools make to their communities and to celebrate the important role that Catholic education plays in the lives of students.

During Catholic Schools Week, students, faculty, and staff participate in a variety of activities and events. These may include Mass, service projects, open houses, and special assemblies. It is a time for students to reflect on the values of their faith and the importance of their education.

At St. Thomas the Apostle, it sounds like Catholic Schools' Week was a great success. I hope that the students, faculty, and staff all had a wonderful time participating in the various events and activities and that everyone was able to deepen their understanding of what it means to be a part of a Catholic school community.
